13. CODE OF ETHICS

It shall be the ideal, the resolve and the duty of each member of the Association to act in accordance with the following:

13.1. Relationship with Patients and Society

13.1.1. To keep the visual welfare of the patient uppermost at all times.

13.1.2. The member shall protect patients from unwarranted physical and mental discomfort, distress, harm, danger, deprivations and from unnecessary procedures.

13.1.3. A patient's personal information shall be preserved in absolute secrecy unless otherwise required by law, and shall be used for the benefit of the patient only. Such information may be communicated to another practitioner after securing the patient's consent.

13.1.4. To ensure that patients are fully informed of their rights and their corresponding obligations by providing clear professional information.

13.1.5. To aid patients in making informed judgments and choices.

- 13.1.6. To ensure as far as reasonably possible that no person lacks for visual care, regardless of his financial status.
- 13.1.7. Patients can be advised only, and if a patient chooses to disregard such advice the member cannot insist upon its acceptance.
- 13.1.8. The findings or copy of prescription of a patient must, at such patient's request, be forwarded to another professional.
- 13.1.9. If a patient requests another opinion, a summary of findings shall be made available to the new practitioner.
- 13.1.10. A patient is entitled to return for further consultations if there is dissatisfaction with any aspect of the service rendered. In such circumstances, the patient must be treated with courtesy and understanding. If the problem cannot be resolved the patient shall be offered a referral to another practitioner.

13.2. Relationship with Colleagues / Optometrically-Related Professionals

13.2.1. A SAOA member shall embrace a spirit of collegiality within his/her own profession as well as allied professions

- 13.2.1.1. The good relations that exist between a member and his colleagues should also be fostered between the member and members of affiliate professions, in order to facilitate referral and inter-professional consultation for the benefit of patients.
  - 13.2.1.1.1. It is incumbent upon a member to advise patients to consult with an optometric colleague or refer them for other professional care when necessary.
  - 13.2.1.1.2. It is incumbent upon a member to promote in every possible way, in collaboration with the Association, better care of the visual needs of the public.
  - 13.2.1.1.3. It is incumbent upon a member to promote and maintain cordial and unselfish relations with members of his own and other professions to promote the exchange of information for the benefit of the public.
  - 13.2.1.1.4. To practise in such a way so as to merit public confidence in the integrity of the optometrically-related professions.
  - 13.2.1.1.5. It is incumbent upon a member to collaborate with other members of the health care community in meeting the health needs of patients.

13.2.2. If it becomes evident that a patient's needs would be better met by seeking the care of a member of another professional discipline, the patient shall be referred accordingly. In such event:

13.2.2.1. a letter setting out any relevant information and the reason for referral shall be provided; and

13.2.2.2. while a particular practitioner may be recommended, it must be made clear that a patient may consult a practitioner of his own choice.

13.2.3. The member shall refer a patient to a colleague when he feels that he is unable to render the services required by such patient, but subject to:

13.2.3.1. contacting the colleague to whom the patient is referred; and

13.2.3.2. charging independently for services provided.

13.2.4. Certifications, reports and other similar documents signed by a member in his professional capacity shall be strictly accurate in all respects. Facts and expressions of opinion shall be clearly differentiated.

13.2.5. When establishing a new practice, a member shall, as a matter of courtesy, advise colleagues who are already established in the area of his intention to commence practise.

13.3. Employer / Employee Relationship

13.3.1. Employment shall not be offered to an employee of a colleague unless such employee first approaches the member of his own initiative or in response to an advertisement.

13.3.2. Members shall strive to ensure that cordial relations between employers and employees is maintained for the benefit of patients through:

13.3.2.1. ensuring that all lay staff respect the confidential nature of all patient records;

13.3.2.2. desisting from offering employees payments which may discourage impartial advice to patients or be construed as a perverse incentive;

13.3.2.3. giving employee members the freedom to exercise their independent professional judgment and the full range of their professional skills;

13.3.2.4. offering salaries and employment benefits that are consistent with those offered in the surrounding locality;

13.3.2.5. not removing or copying patient records while being employed by another member; and

13.3.2.6. employing only duly qualified members to examine patients.

13.3.3. A member who is employed by another member and who intends to practise for his own account in the same locality shall not inform the patients of his employer that he intends to commence practice nor influence them in any manner to consult him in future.

13.4. Dispensing

113.4.1. Optical dispensing is an integral and important part of optometry's service to the community. Members shall continue the practice of maintaining control over and responsibility for the dispensing of their own prescriptions within their practice.

113.4.2. Any materials supplied by a member must be of good quality.

113.4.3. If a member dispenses a prescription that is not his own, the member shall make the patient aware that he/she is responsible only for the dispensing and not the prescription itself. It is unethical for him/her to comment thereon to the patient in a manner that would undermine the prescriber.

113.4.4. If an error in the writing of the prescription is evident or suspected, it is the duty of the dispensing member to consult directly with the prescribing practitioner prior to dispensing the prescription.

113.4.5. Should the dispensed ophthalmic aid prove unsatisfactory it is the member's duty to check the dispensing details and, if no error is found, to advise the patient to consult the practitioner who prescribed such aid again.

113.4.6. The dispensing of contact lenses other than from a previous prescription or to a member's own patient, may not be carried out without contacting the practitioner who fitted the lenses for permission to do so.

113.5. Providers / Wholesalers

113.5.1. Members shall not enter into any agreements with suppliers, firms or financial institutions that in any way limit their professional freedom or reduce standards of patient care.

113.6. All Optometrically-Related Practitioners

- 13.6.1. Avoid incompetent, unethical or illegal practices;
- 113.6.2. Comprehensive and accurate records shall be maintained for each patient. In this regard:
  - 113.6.2.1. records shall be kept of the findings of any examination for a minimum period of 6 years, the opinion expressed, the advice given and all the actions taken; and
  - 113.6.2.2. in the event of professional advice having been given and the patient signifying that he would choose to disregard such advice, relating thereto the facts shall be carefully recorded.
- 113.6.3. Guard against misinformation and misrepresentation concerning vision care and optometrically-related services;
- 113.6.4. The member's course of action shall be determined by the needs of the patient;
- 113.6.5. Following a consultation, the member shall ensure that the patient is under no duress to have the prescription dispensed;
- 113.6.6. The member is obliged to keep abreast of developments in his area of practise so that his patients receive the benefits of all acknowledged improvements in visual care by:
  - 113.6.6.1. attending scientific meetings and educational courses; and
  - 113.6.6.2. maintaining a core library of basic texts and subscriptions to clinical journals.
- 113.6.7. Maintain his/her office and practice in keeping with professional standards;
- 113.6.8. Preserve the independence of the profession;
- 113.6.9. It is an obligation of each optometrist to claim for professional services rendered from third party payers by correctly making use of the SAOA tariff codes by ensuring that each claim accurately reflects actual services and materials provided and on the dates such services were provided.
- 13.6.10. It is the duty of an optometrist to provide:

ANNEXURE A

OMBUDSMAN COMPLAINTS PROCESS

1. Receiving a complaint

A complaint can be in writing, by telephone, fax or e-mail, and in person to the SAOA office

The complaint has to include the following:

- name, address and telephone numbers
- a summary of the complaint which has to include a detailed account of who was involved, what, when and where it happened and why the situation is unfair or wrong
- What have you done to try and resolve the matter and the results?
- Copies of relevant letters or other documents
- The results you are seeking

ASSESSING A COMPLAINT

The process involves the understanding of the nature of the complaint, by contacting the complainant for further clarification of the matter.

The issues that maybe considered during assessment include

1. whether the complaint is within the Ombudsman jurisdiction.
2. whether the complainant has try to resolve with the person the complaint is against and what was the outcome.
3. whether the complaint would be more appropriately dealt with by a different statutory body (HPCSA, CMS etc.) the Ombudsman can facilitate a referral.

MAKING A PRELIMINARY INQUIRIES

After the complaint is assessed and is within the ombudsman jurisdiction, preliminary inquiries are conducted under the following premise

1. Inviting the party to respond to the issues raised in a complaint
2. Inspect files and documents when are made available by both parties
3. Research relevant information
4. Interview independent witnesses if are available
5. Seek independent advice once all relevant information has been gathered and all the parties have been a proper opportunity to respond or comment

Then the Ombudsman will formulate a view about the complaint and both parties will be notified of a course of action (action plan). In this process the Ombudsman will where necessary try to negotiate a resolution between the two parties

If we consider that the person the complaint is against has acted unfairly and will not negotiate a suitable resolution, the ombudsman is able to report the matter to the CEO of the SAOA, statutory body concern (within the jurisdiction of the complaint with the view for remedial action.

CONCILIATION AND MEDIATION

This process clearly defines the ombudsman's role in any dispute resolution. It is a voluntary process which means that both parties in a dispute must agree to the process of conciliation and mediation.

The privilege is that anything discussed or any document prepared specifically for conciliation or mediation remains confidential

The process is non-adversarial; it is an alternative to a lawsuit

The Ombudsman can halt or cancel the mediation or conciliation process if the process is likely not to bring the two parties into an agreement regarding a complaint

FORMAL INVESTIGATION

The Ombudsman may determine to conduct a formal investigation into a complaint as a result of the preliminary inquiries.

The process is conducted in cases which are serious and complex.

Complaints which are in the public interest or raised issues of systemic problems within the profession

Powers of Ombudsman in a formal investigation

- power to enter premises and inspect records
- power to require any person to answer any question concerning the matter

The ombudsman may make recommendations as a result of an investigation

- Report the matter to the relevant authorities.

TIME FRAMES

Investigating complaints can take some time due to the following factors

1. The complexity of the issues raised in a complaint
2. The need to obtain information from a number of affected parties
3. The need to provide procedural fairness
4. The ombudsman must be in regular contact until the matter is resolved
